

Activity Report (short summary)

1. Project Code: C010109
2. Date of Activity: 2-6, March, 2009 and 9-13, March, 2009
3. Kind of Activity: Technical training
4. Topic of Activity: Basic Agriculture
5. Objectives of Activity: To improve the practical understanding of X village participants from Y project villages in 3 areas about good techniques of farming and gardening.
6. Place of Activity (venue) : (name of location)
7. Number of participants: Male ? Female ?
8. Participants from: ?
9. Summary of Activity
 - Basic agricultural and planting methods
 - earth crust soil sourness and salt content (Soil pH)
 - How to improve sourness and saltness (pH) of the soil were the main objectives of this section.
 - Plant disease (caused by insect or natural disease must be differentiated).
 - Growing of vegetables systematically was shown by the technical agriculture text book and various seedlings were distributed and practical training methodology was encouraged and practice at the training center.
 - Fruit and flower plants, production in state and divisions commercial technique was instructed.
 - How to calculate one acre yield of plants
10. Photographs: Yes, throughout the training
11. Any other documentation: Yes, 10 page booklet given to all participants. 'Grafting And Budding Techniques In Tropical Fruits, Aye Aye Myint, Yangon, 2002
12. Brief Evaluation by participants
 - Excellent (how many votes) 80%
 - OK (how many votes) 20 %
 - Not very useful/not very clear/not very practical etc (how many votes): 0
13. Resource Persons: name

14. Comments/evaluation by resource persons: Overall level of interest was high, 50% of participants were interested in mushroom cultivating process, .How to avoid mushroom poisoning was also shown which enlightened the participants very much. Students were very excited and interested in planting/grafting method.

15. Coordinators: names

16. Comments by coordinators The resource persons practical approach in the field demonstration was very easily received by the participants.

17. Report prepared by: name

: